REVIEW OF TRADE.

No General Increase in Business, but Some Encouraging Features.

New York, April 10. Brudstreet's to-morrow will say: While there is no general increase in business there are several encouraging features; the dirst advance in the prices of flour, wheat, corn, oats, pork and sugar with that for steel billets and beams and other from and steel products, including number 2 fromdry pig and for the plates. The advance in wheat continued so much longer than was expected that the trade is again discussing the likelihood of this being the beginning of the long advance for cereals they believe must come after the extrome depression of the past few years.

Unfavorable crop reports from the central western States, a confirmation of the previous short crop report from Argentine and Australia, small supplies in Europe and affort therefore, and above all the revival of speculative interest in Europe and aftoat therefor, and above all the revitad of speculative interest in wheat are underneath the cereal prices. Advices from Buenos Ayres explain that lack of the invaliable supply of wheat at Argentipe ports is due to the "failure of lack of the hvallable supply of wheat at Argentine ports is due to the "failure of the wheat crop." High from and steel prices checked the demand and trade in those metals is smaller than for weeks past. The new steel combine antagonizes a number of large producers, not members, as well as makens of cotton ties, and the plates to whom the high cost of raw material nears competition from abroad.

In view of the practically stationary production of pig from during March and the 60,000 ton increase of furnance stocks the intrattadvance in beseener pig from it loss logical than that for hillets. Brighter and more seasonable weather east, and needed ruins in Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska, tended to stimulate the builted diemand for general merchandics. Renewed activity is 'shown by lumber, now that the building season is sopen and by paints, oile, glass and other structural materials, for like reasons, only a few cities reporting a moderate improvement in general business. St. Louis, Kansas City and Omalia are thus conspicuous, and even there gains are alight.

I answer, there is no one so unpopular. * * Mr. Cleveland's uomination would be a cinch and a god-send to the Eepablican party in Ten-nessee. In the above we have quoted a partial list of those who are opposed to Cleveland. Among the World's correspondents there are some who favor President plicitly and others in a qualified way, but as a rule these responses come from States that will give their electoral votes to the Republican candidate under any circumstances. The effect of this eanviss seems to be to emphasize the demoralized condition of the Democratic party. The South which alone has made Democratic auceess possible in the past is practically solid for free silver and will demand a free silver platform and candidate. Cleveland is apparently out of the race and most mayone can have the nomination without a struggle except him, providing he is ready to encurrency views of the audoubted aministry of the party. The Democraits are already hopelessly bandicapped by their disastrous tariff record and seem clermined to add to the other reasons for the defeat of the party arquare stand in support of the silver crize in the coming campaign. The exhibit is not a pleasing one, but it is instructive. It is useless for the free trade press to argue against such facts as these. The editors of such papers cannot deceive, the people concerning the effects of the law, any more than they can hoodwink them by their hypo-critical arguments against tariff agitation on the ground that it beterfers with the stability of business. In order to have stability in business It is first necessary present tatif law has been to destroy the predicted when the Demoeditors then had a word to say about in juring the business interests.

Tariff agitation having for its end the enactment of legislation that will afford necessary and adequate against foreign competition is not going to injure business. Ou the other hand it will set the wheels of industry now fals as a consequence of Democratic folly in operation once more. The people understand it and are voting the Regulican ticket this year in order to make just that kind of agitation effective. The free trade editor who is inclined to question lis statement is most respectfully referred to the returns of the recent election in Rhode Island. A Boston despatch says: Esriy Thursday morning the ferry boat Ben Franklin and the two masted schonner Arthur Clifford, of Buelteport, colified in the harbor. The schooner was from Winterport, Me., and was in tow of a tug, hound to East Boston, where the cargo of weed was obseigned. The schooner's jibboom nonched a hole in the ferry boat's side, penetrating into the men's unbin. No one was minred. The schooner's jibboom was broken off, but no other damage was done. The injury to the ferry boat was not serious. The collision occurred through a misunderstanding between the captains of the tug and the ferry boat. Captain Delson of the Cathord reported that they encountered violent morthwesterly gales, Tuesday, off Boune Island. A portion of the deek load of wood and a wawl were swept overboard and the mainsuit was blown away. ta; Frank Lewis, Orono. Increase— Francis Mahew, Liberty; Joseph P. Joss, Weston. John F. Jackson, a South Thomaston mariner, recently pass of through an awful ordeal at sea. A trem-indoes current drove their vessel on a reef, and the crew put off in a boat. For eight days they were tossed about without food and water, and they all weat nearly crazy. The sea washed ever them continually, and they were dreuched to the skin—but hurning up twide. Finally, when the storm subsidely, they fell victims to the reaction brought about by being exposed to the sun, and their fuces and limbs swelled atarmingly. During the ministern they caught evough water in their caps to partially upcase their thirst for the remaining twenty-four hour, "It was bad enough to be without field and water for the first five days of that uncertain journey," sald Jackson, in the Rockland Courier-forzette. "But think the most agonizing experience we had the invisible radiance was reflected from the copper plate employed by Mr. Tesla; the rest of it proceeded uninerraptedly. Since that time he has experimently with several other metals, and he tell "The Ectrical Review" (New Yorl) this week that a surface of magnesium or zinc held at an angle of 45 degrees with the path of the rays will reflect about 3 per cent. BULLETIN NO. 1.

to be lesued by Sec'y McKeen This Season Secretary McLeon, of the State Board of Agriculture, has bulletin No. 1, this season, nearly ready for distribution.
It will be one of the most interesting and instructive that has ever been issued and promises much fer the work which Secretary McKeen will do in this line the coming summer. It contains, in addition to other valuable information, the collowing summarization of replies from he countles in this part of the State: Aroostook.

Arosatook.

About the usual amount of stock with an increasing tendency to raise more of the pount stock. A slight decrease in sheet.

Stock fodder not more than three-quarters as much as last year.

For improvements we note, warmer barns, a larger variety of stock fodders and more attention to comfort of the animals. Mostly watered in yard, about one-thilf only once a day. A few water in barns and are much pleased with the water. There will probably be quite an indrease in acreage of yellow corn, mostly the smaller eight rowed. Some are taking silos.

And more than seventy-five pur cent. the usual amount of fall plowing done. Not more than seventy-five per cent the usual amount of fall plowing done.

More Jarm stuck, with an increased value. Fifteen per cent. less stock fodded, Warmer barns and more grain fed. Mostly "water at a springs jand wells. About oue-half twice a day. None warm water, Only small quantities of cornaited. No siles. Usual amount of full plowing.

Penobscot.

Loss stock fodder by about ten per cent. Hav sold off.

Bitter care, more watering in barns and in shellered yards. Watering mostly, twice a day. About ten per cent. In barns.

Several report warming good cents in barns.

Several report warming water with good cents in every case, mostly for the site. Two new silos. One filled with sweet corn fodder, one with yellow corn with ears on. Good satisfaction in each case. More han the usual amount of fall plowing.

Piscataguis.

Piscataquis.

Piscataquis.

Number and value about the same.
Less grock fodder. Better barns and better care with nure grain fed. Waterad mostly in the yards and twice a day.

No warning water. No new silos reported. Usual quantity of sweet and yellow corn. More fall plowing than usual.

usibil.

Mr. A. W. Gilman, of Foxoraft, acriss sample of ears of yellow corn taken from his sill, which are in excellent condition. The cern was ullowed to stand until quite mature, then cut and put in the sild, whole, pains being taken to lay the stalks fornight. It must be valuable feed, and Mr. Gilman has reason to feel lightly pleased with it. Washington

But little corn grown in the consty. Usual amount of fall plowing;

Summary.

Taken all together, throughout the State, the amount and value of stock as rephreed, will not affer materially from last year. The lessened value of some classes of stock is more than offset by the limprovement in the stock. The amount of stock fodder is less than last year, taking the State as a whole. Improvement in stabling, caring for and feeding farm summis, are noted from all questers. Most farmers water in the yards, but the number of those having water limps and the stock for mere water has been warned good results from once watering. In carry instance where water has been warned good results are renorted. The exercise question is fully disquised in the remains, that we do not summarize it. The chocasua of opinion appears to be in favor of moderate exercise.

The tendency to increase the acreage of yellow corn seems quite general, and we expect that quite a large number of new sitos will be rulle the coming reason. In every instance where ensiling was fed for the flist time this senson, favorable reports have heen received. Some are enthusiastic in its praise. The tendency is away from fall plowing, one correspondent saying be had as lief take the land without plowing in the spring as to be obliged to put so much extra labor into atter pulverization.

Sipper that time he has experimented with several other metals, and he tells "The Electrical Review" (New Yorl) this where it hat a surface of magneshum or zip held at an angle of 45 degress with the path of the rays will reflect about 5 per cent. "For larger angles," he adds, "I much greater portion of the rays will be reflected." An important practical application of this alsovery has been made by Mr. Tella. Instead of using a flat plate, he shupes his zinc into a funnel. Such a reflector, of course, works very much like a concave mirror. The vaccinal tube by means of which the X rays developed was placed very near the centre of the mouth of the funnel. In this way he concentrated the radiance upon the object to be photographed, and produced not only a sharper image, but more rapid.

The pince was exposed for forty minutes, which is only half the time required for an earlier photograph of the same subject at a shorter distance, but without a reflector. In a more recent stingraph, moreover, the bones are clearly outlined, instead of being hazy streaks. Obviously, for purposes of surgical diagnosis, this is a notable gain.
